

Good afternoon,

The RBC Olympians program is now accepting applications for their 2021-23 roster.

This national initiative allows elite athletes to engage clients and communities with messages of commitment, excellence, teamwork and leadership, which support RBC's long-time partnership with the Canadian Olympic Committee. RBC Olympians are involved with speaking engagements, in person and virtual appearances at RBC sponsored events, and sharing stories online about meaningful experiences in sport. Additionally, select athletes will have the opportunity to gain valuable career development skills alongside a flexible work schedule in an RBC corporate office and/or virtual office setting, allowing the time necessary to continue training and competing on the world stage.

This exciting opportunity begins October 1st, 2021 in urban centers across Canada, with additional flexibility to other geographies and remote work opportunities.

The Ask: Please share the job posting with your athlete base.
